

PLATES: IGX plates can be cleaned using a clean, slightly damp cloth. DO NOT use acetone-based cleaners or any household cleaners containing ammonia or alcohol (such as 409®, Fantastik®, Windex®, etc.) on rubber components, as those products may affect the appearance and durability of the coating.

DUMBBELLS: IGX pro-style dumbbells are assembled in our factory using aircraft-grade hex bolts to provide the most secure assembly. To further prevent premature loosening, we use a proprietary locking compound to secure the bolts. New IGX dumbbells should not require any maintenance, however we recommend that you carry out periodic inspections to monitor the security of the bolts. Please DO NOT TIGHTEN the dumbbells unless they become loose. Unnecessary tightening of the bolts will break the locking compound seal and cause the dumbbells to loosen prematurely. IGX dumbbells can be cleaned using a clean, slightly damp cloth. DO NOT use acetone-based cleaners, or any household cleaners containing ammonia or alcohol (such as 409®, Fantastik®, Windex®, etc.) on rubber components, as those products may affect the appearance and durability of the coating.

BARBELL BARS AND DUMBBELL HANDLES: We recommend periodically wiping your dumbbell handles and bars with WD-40®, or other high-quality moisture inhibitor/protectant. You need only apply a thin layer of protectant, and then wipe them thoroughly with a soft dry cloth.

BEAUTY BELLS: To clean your IGX Beauty Bells, use a clean, soft, damp cloth and be sure to completely dry the product after cleaning. You may also wipe them down with WD-40®, or other high-quality moisture inhibitor/protectant. You need only apply a thin layer of protectant, and then wipe them thoroughly with a soft dry cloth. New IGX Beauty Bells should not require any maintenance, however periodic inspections are recommended.
